

THE ARIZONA REPUBLICAN.

ISSUED EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR

THE REPUBLICAN PUBLISHING COMPANY.

Entered at the postoffice at Phoenix, Arizona, as mail matter of the second class.

THE REPUBLICAN has its own special wire connecting its office direct with San Francisco and Chicago, and through these cities with all the great news centers of the world. Besides the Associated Press report it receives more special dispatches every day than any paper west of St. Louis, outside of San Francisco.

SILVER, COPPER AND LEAD.

Silver was quoted yesterday at $1.02 1/2 per ounce; copper at $14.75 per 100 pounds; and lead at $11.25 per 100 pounds.

THE Sunday law is lying dormant.

If the Illinois ship is a success the first point to head it for would be the North Pole.

It is to be noted that many local citizens are making ample preparations for "awakening off" when the first of the year rolls around.

A northern railroad will bring to light many treasures of the mountains hitherto untouched on account of costly transportation.

El Paso claims to have four new trunk lines "pointing" toward her. May they reach her and come a little farther westward.

SPEND YOUR MONEY IN YOUR HOME TOWN. The cash that goes abroad does not return to the circulation of the place whence it proceeds.

How foolish it is for thousands of people to wait for a fighting chance at the prairie lands of the Cherokee Strip, when they could come to Arizona and secure a homestead without trouble.

GOVERNOR WATERMAN, of California, will retire from the executive chair with the title of the "Great Pardoner." With him the quality of mercy was not starved. He dispensed it by the bucketful.

KING KALAKAUA is making himself very popular in San Francisco. He has an unquenchable fondness for wassail and mirth and is enjoying himself to the utmost among the free mannered Californians.

THE great North American idiot is now in his glory proposing "novelties" for the World's Fair. Some of the projects are wild enough to serve as a sufficient passport for the inventors into any insane asylum of the land.

THE performance of "Carmen" by the Juch company at El Paso, commenced at 11:40, as the company did not arrive until 9:30. The opera lasted until 2:10 a. m. Patience must be largely developed in El Paso.

AN editorial association should be formed among Arizona journalists. A meeting for that purpose should be arranged for about February 1, in Phoenix, the session of the Legislature of itself being a sufficient attraction to draw the editorial fraternity to the Capitol City.

PIMA County will demand the presidency of the Territorial Council, and in view of the fact that that section of the Territory has been rather slighted in the preceding Legislatures, the claim is just. Fred. Hughes, upon whom the Southern delegation will combine, would worthily fill the chair and his election to the honor is assured.

It would be but appropriate that a man of such world wide fame as James G. Blaine should be President of the Republic at the time of the World's Fair. The greatest living American should be selected to preside over the greatest existing nation during an event that will draw hither representatives from every government on earth.

EUROPEAN diplomats, in speaking of the war prospects in that armed camp of nations, usually size up France and Russia upon the same side, as opposed to Germany, Austria and England. That is about how the situation would be in the event of a war. And Russia and France have a much larger combined army than the three nations named.

A MOVEMENT in monetary circles having especial interest to citizens on the border line of the two North American republics is that looking to the establishment of a silver dollar which shall have a standard value between all the nations upon the Western Hemisphere. The advantages of the new coin for international commerce will be innumerable. Its use is expected, also, to stimulate trade between the United States and Latin American republics, placing exchange upon a silver basis the only national one for the countries concerned.

JUDGE MAXEY, of the United States District Court for the Western District of Texas, takes a different view of the clause in the Chinese exclusion act that stipulates that Chinese unlawfully in this country shall be "returned to the country whence they came." Judge Kibbey sustained Court Commissioner Hughes in remanding the Celestials to China. Judge Maxey holds that the Chinese came from Mexico and should be returned to that country. The problem will be submitted to the awful and august wisdom of the United States Supreme Court for final settlement.

All that is needed is that the East shall know the manifold advantages of residence in the valleys of Arizona for the inauguration of a tide of immigration that will speedily settle up all the vacant lands. Outsiders are too prone to consider this Territory as a land of Indians, cowboys and snakes. Nothing could be further from the mark. Of Indians there is but one hostile tribe and that one held well in check, the cowboy is a much abused individual, who is in reality no more dangerous than the engineer of a gang plow, and as for vermin, there are none in the settled sections. The mineral resources are well understood abroad and, perhaps, a little exaggerated, but of the agricultural possibilities little is known and less believed. The other day an old real estate agent said: "In my trips back to the corn States, I am very careful not to tell the full truth about agriculture in Arizona, for if I did I would be set down as a liar on the start. For instance, instead of telling the Kansas farmer that we can grow ten tons of alfalfa upon one acre of ground in a season, I call it five or six tons and still astonish him. Folks under the domination of the Eastern weather cannot possibly appreciate the luxuriance of vegetation here until they have seen it with their own eyes." It is gratifying to note that every settler at once starts out on his own account as an immigration agent to draw hither his relatives and friends.

An interesting bit of information came over the wires yesterday in the statement from the Census Office that the United States contains but 60,630 Hebrews. Really, if the average citizen had been asked to make an estimate as to the Jews in the United States he would surely have guessed ten times that number. The Jewish population is such a ubiquitous and prominent feature of American society that the impression has been that the children of Israel and of Judah constituted no such an unconsiderable proportion of the body politic and surprise is but natural when it is shown that there is in the Union but one Jew to a thousand Gentiles. The general prosperity of the Hebrews is reported as high. As a race, numerically they are about holding their own and they possess the same racial peculiarities that have been noted among them in Europe. There is something marvellously virile and enduring about the blood of Abraham that has lasted, unpolled and unchanged, under every condition and in every clime, for thousands of years, though the people of the tribes are widely scattered from their ancient kingdom on the Syrian hills.

As the rights of manufacture of the sewing machine, the dictionary and many other popular necessities have lapsed, so with the telephone in a few years. A number of very simple contrivances can be rigged up for household uses, after the Bell patent right expires, and conversation between town residences will be had at a nominal cost. It is not unlikely, too, that the phonograph will become a part of the home furniture and, instead of writing a letter, you may talk your communication into the funnel of the little machine and send the sheet of foil to the person addressed, to be repeated from another phonograph in your own words and intonation. Or, what would prohibit the telegraph companies from putting in powerful telephone lines and feeding the messages in at one end from a phonograph, to be similarly received at the other end? Verily, the next decade is full of grand scientific and mechanical probabilities.

ARIZONA has a priceless treasure in her remains of the Toltec era. The ancient castles, dwellings and irrigation works are rapidly vanishing under the unsparring hand of the modern farmer in the irrigable valleys, and the writer knows of instances where the cedar floors of elaborate cliff dwellings have been burned for no further purpose than to "smoke out" a swarm of bees and thus secure the honey stored in the recesses of the cave. Such reckless destruction of that which cannot be replaced should be, at the next sitting of the Legislature, constituted a crime against the State. The records of antiquity have been as yet but imperfectly searched in this Territory, and it would be commendable, both from patriotic and scientific points of view, were the Legislature to institute measures looking to a compilation of data and collection of relics in connection with the prehistoric races of Arizona.

THE Pope, intent upon the regeneration of the world, is about to issue an encyclical letter, containing his views upon social ethics in general and directions to the faithful for guiding public opinion into the true ways of morality. It seems odd that so distinguished a personage as the Pope should issue a work upon social problems, for by so doing he will expose himself to assault, however pure may be the tone and correct the philosophy of his forthcoming work, it must necessarily be argumentative, and, as such, will be met by argument. Argument with the Pope! Just think of it!

THE orange acreage of the Salt River Valley should be doubled this season.
